head of the lift line

by Jim Benefield

Here we go again, the beginning of the fourteenth year of Space City Ski Club. It is indeed a pleasure to be associated with a club run so well by volunteers. The list of this year's was gratifying long. These volunteers once again assure the Club of continued success. Speaking of volunteers, as I am sure you know, Judy Allen had the peculiar luck to run two trips last year and have both cancelled due to no snow. I am happy to announce the Board of Directors elected Judy as Trip Director for the 1977-78 ski season.

Trip planning for next year is well underway. Your Vice President of Trips, Ken Dominy has proposed a most ambitious, but interesting set of trips. Strong consideration is being made for a European Jaunt in 1978. I hope the many who keep asking for it are willing to set aside part of late February. By the way, based on this year's snow, I hope all those so inclined can start their own prayers for snow for next season.

Since renewals of membership have not begun, everyone should remember that the Club filled its membership roster during the last ski season. From now until August 1st renewals are accepted without the $2.00 new membership fee. If a renewal is not received by August 1st, then old members will be considered after the waiting list which has already been established. For those who are curious, the Sitzmarke is delivered through August for the 1976-77 members, after that date only new members receive our monthly publication. Please remember that the appropriate committee boxes on the renewal form are the only means by which the Club knows of your interest. If in doubt, mark "will help where needed" and a uniform interest in any or all activities is understood.

Above all, I would like to thank all of last year's officers and more particularly trip participants who put up with Mother Nature during what may be her worst year. Your new officers are planning to work under the premise that you can't fool Mother Nature.

easter at mt. hood

by Greg Thompson

Sunday, April 3rd, 7 a.m. Are you sure that's right? Well, then where's my assistant, Greg Thompson? You know, the one with the liquor and the funny hat. Would you believe he went to the wrong terminal. Lucky for us Peter Hebert, our Braniff representative, went to hunt him down and escort us all the way to Portland.

Arriving at Mt. Hood, we were all amazed with the lodge. It sits halfway up the mountain with lifts running both above and below the lodge. The lodge itself is a beautiful work of art with huge hand-hewn beams and carved woodwork. It looks solid enough to withstand even the worst winter.

That afternoon we hit the slopes. Two hours later, burned, hot and tired, many of us relaxed and listened to the band at the Ram's Head Bar. Charles Seaton, what is that funny red line across your forehead?

Next day at the crack of dawn, 9:30? Out to the slopes, but don't forget the T-shirts and sun screen. It's 2 o'clock - time to hit the pool. Rachel Pabst, that sure is a funny looking swimsuit you got from Richard Moseley and Scott Brune.

That night Dick Kohnstamm, the Area Operator had a cocktail party for the lodge, which then continued on into the night at the Blue Ox Bar. The carousing award for the evening goes to Brenda and Charles Lauderdale. But let's not forget Donna Berglund and Jerry McIntyre for their table top dancing.

Tuesday, 23 of our group sunned and funned it to Mt. Hood Meadows. The lift to the top -- why Texas, of course! Our second day at the Meadows was snowy with a couple of exciting moments as Barry Kumins led us to the avalanches and Jimmy Philp led us off the cliffs. Did we ever get Merriam Webster off the lift?

While Al Pruett was out hunting black bear, Vada Pruett and Ike Hoffman were busy sketching and our resident photographer, Gordie White, was busy capturing it all on film.

Two days the snow cat took us to Crater Rock (8700 ft.), far above the lifts. The view, the isolation, the feeling of making those first tracks in the snow, what an experience! On the lighter side, we enjoyed filming our own movie of bikinis, human pole races, wine, cheese, good people and good times. Watch out for the bombers, Bob Tripp and Barbara White.

Wednesday afternoon, Government Camp was invaded via a downhill attack on skis with the Rathskeller being the target. Tom Baldwin became the Mystery Man, "now you see him, now you don't". Drinking, eating pizza, and dancing ensued. Now for a little night skiing.

Thursday, Bud Nash, director of the ski school, had us skiing around, backwards, under and between in a special fun race for SCSC. All video-taped for your viewing pleasure at the Alibi Hour. Our medal winners - none other than Judy Allen and Jimmy Philp - Gold; Linda MacFarland and Bob Petner, Silver; and Jean Crabtree and Pat Webster, Bronze. Our special awards were: Booby Prize to Scott Brune, Ballet Champ to Barry Kumins, and Most Vocal, Bob Copple. Also the Trip Grooming Award goes to our favorite couple, Kyle Chandler and Nancy Adams.

It snowed the last two days of the week giving us the best skiing and also some protection from all our sunburns. Others just relaxed and rested while some like Jan (one more run) Petner would not give in.

We finally had to leave Sunday. Braniff must have heard about our flight to Oregon, as they were nice enough to block a bunch of seats so the group could be together. As we stepped off the plane in Houston, a tired, sunburned group, we were met by Peter Herbert, who made sure the luggage got off safely. For those who didn't go, you missed a great time, and for those who were sweating this article, all my good notes and checkbook are flying around the U.S. on a Braniff jet.

Bruce Maughs

I would like to introduce you to one of the most colorful Space City Ski Clubbers I know: Bruce Maughs. Bruce has been an active member of SCSC for three years and has participated in several SCSC trips, such as Vail, Salt Lake City and Aspen. He has also gone skiing on non-club trips to Lake Tahoe, New Jersey, Vermont, and Massachusetts. What spurred Bruce's interest in joining SCSC initially was the group flight rate, but since then, he has found many other interests in Space City such as the July 4th picnic at Tom Summers, the ice skating party, the horse race trip to Lafayette and the South Padre Island weekend.

Bruce recounted numerous little stories for me. However, many are unprintable. One exploit occurred at Alta Mountain on the Salt Lake City trip. Trying to fortify himself with booze because of the cold temperature or so he says, he would carry his pint bottle of Scotch in his jacket and by mid-morning, he was so plastered that he tripped over the tip of his skis and hurt his nose and was not even aware it was bleeding until one of the more sober members noted his injury with much distress. Needless to say, the wound was quickly attended.

Bruce is the assistant tax manager for Pennzoil. He went to school at SMU, attended law school at New York University and graduated with top honors from South Texas Law School. He was raised in Springfield, Missouri, but has a great love for New York City, having lived in Greenwich Village. Bruce has gone on business and pleasure trips to Europe three times visiting the Hague, Amsterdam, Brussels, and London. He is taking a Club Med trip to Cancun this month where he plans to enjoy his favorite pastimes of tennis, sailing, drinking and Look for Bruce at the next meeting. He always has a twinkle in his eye and a girl on each arm.

'77 follies

by Cynthia Lackey

The SCSC Follies of 1977 got off to a great start this year, with the terrific music of Art Camero, Dave Hargett, Diane Hargett, and Georgiana Repal. Their lively music set the mood for a great Follies!

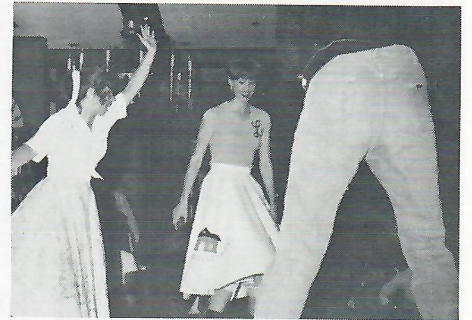

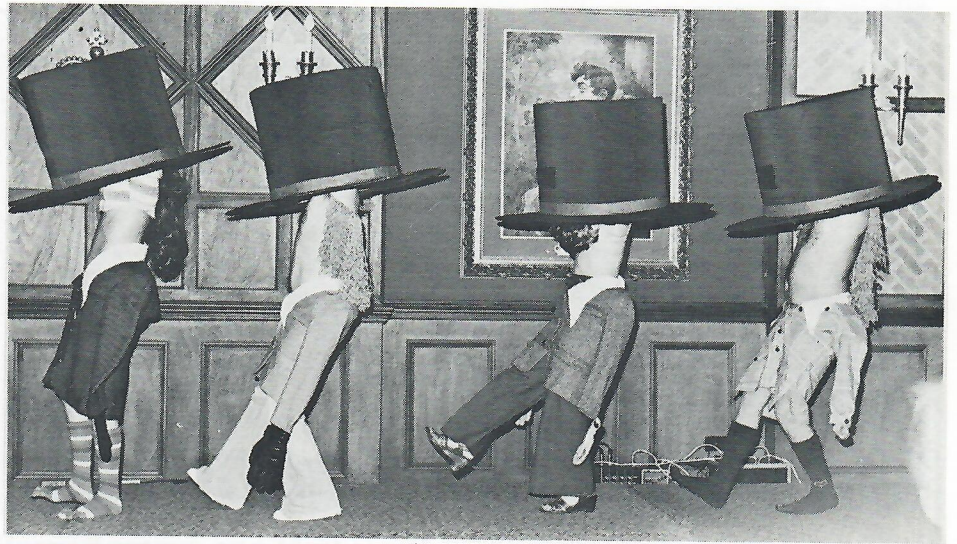

Act One was a super start with Monday Night News, starring Richard Schwartz as Chevy Chimmy, and the outstanding "on the pot report" (Harry Privy) by Joe Mayeux. My thanks go to Connie Mayeux for getting her group together for a great act.

Act Two, "The Bong Show", was the intellectual genius of Bob Marwin and his gang. The Rolling Wallendas were a very unique group. The famous Killer Bee Ballet by "Easy" Thayer was one the best parts of act two. My thanks to Margie Fannette for the writing expertise (although we didn't hear much of her skit as most lines were forgotten). Remember the chick plucking group?

Act Three of our Follies was skillfully written and rehearsed by Gail Davies, Sherry Prewett, Nancy Norton, Hap Van Norman, Janet Pickell, Bill Massey and Bob Hemseth. Unfortunately, this act did not go on because of an accident in the group. I extend my thanks for their hard work.

Act Four of our Follies was "The Swap Shop," written and directed by Bobbet Cross, and announced by Tom Mercer. Four lucky couples swapped partners and played the balloon games, clothes swapping, and banana eating contest. The satire on daytime TV games shows came through terrifically in this skit. I thank Bobbet Cross and her group for their work (and play) in this act.

Last, but by far not least, Keith Eastin was our delightful Emcee. His fantastic commercial for "Fugg Soap" was great. The Follies this year were good in my opinion, and I hope all of you enjoyed the acting (?) of our great ski club members. I want to thank Winton Adams also for manning the spotlight for the Follies. After all was said and done, I am sure most of you stayed to listen to more music with Jay Castille coming in (and then all of us had to be asked to leave by Sonny Looks!).

bridge party '77

by Patti Free

The first annual bridge party of the SCSC came to pass on March 25, 1977 at Lee Grona's lovely abode. Twenty-eight avid bridge players embarked upon a sea of card tables and chairs which were scattered throughout the house. Playing bridge in the bedroom was foreign to some, but Steve Kroger liked it well enough to stay there the entire evening. His only exit was for a beer refill, or a visit with Gayle Davies. The winners were the only ones to advance to the next table, and from all their movement, it looked like Ron Free, Loretta McKinnon, and Barrett Penick were all playing well. In the meantime, Dan Sebesta was busy showing us all how easy it is to make a slam bid.

Fae Bennett came away with the top honors for the evening, which was a $10 gift Certificate to J. Rich Sports. Second place went to Barbara O'Neal in the form of a beautiful hanging basket. The most sought after prize of the evening was the "twosy" prize, which was passed around continuously to whomever took a trick with a two. Ron Bartosh was the lucky recipient of the "twosy" prize - a bottle of wine. Another bottle of wine was awarded to John Boynton as the door prize. Too bad that John was on a restricted diet and couldn't drink it! The unlucky winner of the "booby prize" was Kay Staley, who couldn't buy a hand all night. For her efforts, she received a handbook on "Eight Steps To Winning At Bridge". Kay, I understand that there's a long waiting list to read your book!

by Maureen Webb

Thirty-three anxious, enthusiastic skiers met at Houston Intercontinental on March 15 for a five-day trip to Copper Mountain, a first for Space City. All were wide-eyed and eager with the exception of Manuel Granda who seemed to be suffering from some minor ailment, possibly food poisoning (?). Contrary to first impression, Manuel was the gourmet cook of the group; he and his suite-mates brought eight bags of groceries, and needless to say, they had many visitors around dinner time.

The first day of skiing was followed by a wine and cheese party hosted by the Copper Mountain Resort Association. After this party, the group moved to Los Companeros to down margaritas by the pitcher and even a little Mexican food. The evening's activity was highlighted by the greatest swim party of all time back at the condos. Thank God, none (almost none), of the pictures are able to penetrate the steam rising from the pool. Poor - Jim Herold was actually dragged from his sack for the swim-in. Jim, your secret is now uncovered!

Skiing was really great at Copper; we had a 43-inch base with fresh snow on three of our five days. Twelve of our group entered the NASTAR races, most for the first time. Will Green won a bronze, Tom Brown captured two bronze, but Dave Marrack skied off with a silver and a gold medal. Congratulations, David! Jerry Streuding would not put on his bib until just before his time to race. Could it have been because his number was "69" and sponsored by the "munchies"? Incidentally, the code for the lift tickets that day was "FAG".

We had an unconfirmed report that Copper now has

"night skiing". This rumor was started by a few "phantom" roommates who claimed that they were out skiing all night. Sound familiar, anyone?

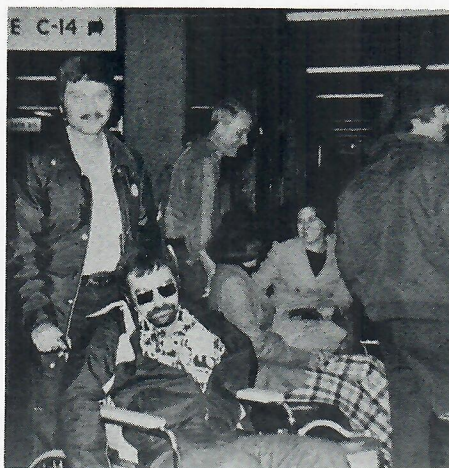

The St. Patty's Day champagne party and the cocktail party were successful, thanks to the great assistance from Marge Treuter, Carolyn Meche and Cathy Crane. Their help behind the scenes was certainly appreciated. Ron Smith joined the group in time for the St. Patty's Day party. We made him show his green, which turned out to be his underwear! Back rubs and "foot jobs" were the in things at the parties with nurses Carolyn Meche and Cathy Crane giving professional rubs and Mo Webb providing the "foot jobs". Ron Smith, Will Green and Mike Hayman were standing in line awaiting their turns.

The group dinner at Tusso's was a real success as everyone turned out for lasagna. It really was a super meal!

Sunday morning found only the heartiest out on the slopes. Most were attracted to the 50¢ Bloody Mary and Screw-driver special at Farley's. The Benefeld's were there along with Bob and Helen Reddy. We never could get her to sing, even under the influence of a few cocktails.

With seven M.D.s and two nurses on the trip, everyone felt confident and in good hands. The closest thing to a skiing injury happened to Stan Kuper who ran over his thumb(?) with his ski. Maybe Stan can explain that one. Tom Brown thought he was going to expire on the slope when the 24-hour virus hit him during a run. Fortunately he returned to the mountain the next day.

Joe Chernow's attractive patio home was the scene of the post-trip party where a catered bar-b-que dinner was served after which we relived the fun times at Copper Mountain as recorded by our cameras. It was great skiing, a great trip, and a truly great group!

Upon arrival in Houston, this month's Markemaker, Barry Kumins set his tracks to find the nearest mountain in Texas (which was difficult). Information from a friend led him to discover Space City Ski Club. At the first meeting, he could not decide if it was a ski club or a social club. One trip to Steamboat Springs was all it took and he was hooked.

Barry was brought up in Boston, and attended undergraduate school at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, in Troy, New York, receiving a degree in chemical engineering. He received his Masters in Business at the University of Chicago. Barry worked for Conoco in New York, and is now in the Houston offices as an Assistant Manager of a planning group.

Barry began skiing in his teens and quickly learned that one doesn't go with "good" friends to the top of the mountain. His skill improved with years of practicing and he has conquered every large mountain (and some not so large) in the East. Seeking other challenges, he decided to go West and has taken trips to Steamboat Springs, Lake Tahoe, and Mt. Hood. At Steamboat Springs, Barry discovered something new. He had been known for his famous "French Parallels" but his racing ability came in handy with NASTAR. He won a bronze medal at Steamboat Springs and a silver medal at Lake Tahoe. Next comes the gold!

Barry is also active in non-skiing activities. He loves to travel and has been all over North America as well as Europe. His job takes him to New York, London, and Paris a couple times each year. Barry loves to play duplicate bridge, is a talented amateur photographer, and enjoys outside activities of tennis, jogging, canoeing, water skiing and gardening. In the past year he has learned about interior design with his new town-house. Barry spends some of his free weekends attending art auctions. He enjoys going to concerts with musical taste of both classical and rock.

Barry has served as a Liftliner and has participated in the canoe trips. He plans to go on the canoe trip in May and also the trip to Playa Blanca. Look for Barry at the Club's summer activities. He is a super guy and a great Markemaker!
